Hold Student In Ohio Poisonings Warned Reporter Of Youth Admits He Gave Out Drugs Danger In Attempts

Arrest of Second Student Is Forecast in Ohio State University

STORIES FAIL TO JIBE

Several Varieties of Drugs and Narcotics Found in Room

By Associated Press
Columbus, O., Feb. 10.—Louis Fish, 21, freshman in the college of pharmacy at Ohio State university, was being held in the city jail here Tuesday for further questioning in the investigation of the deaths of two university students and the illness of others following his admission Monday night that without permission he had dispensed poison capsules to David I.
Puskas, a fellow student, which caused his death. Fish was held incommu-nicated.

Fish, while admitting he failed to tell all he knew of the facts on first being questioned, denied he put poison in the capsule bottle. Puskas, 21, told the city prosecutor, was his best friend. His willingness to do a favor for Puskas, Fish said he now realized, caused the latter's death.
At the request of Puskas, he said, he emerged the pharmacy dispensary to get "a couple of capsules that wouldn't be missed," although Puskas had a prescription for the capsules in his possession. The capsules normally cost 20 cents.

Fish, the first student to be questioned last Wednesday was also one of the first two students who were on duty in the dispensary during the week when the poison capsules were dispensed.

With the questioning of students and instructors completed, further inquiry into the poisonings was transferred Tuesday from the university campus to police headquarters.

Arrest of another Ohio State university student in connection with the poisoning was forecast Tuesday morning by Prosecutor Chester, who said evidence had been found against a student who previously had testified before the investigators.

The authorities searched the suspected room and are said to have found several varieties of narcotics and poisons. The quantity was small however.

Prosecutor Chester said he had investigated the story previously told by the student and had found that it was not consistent and that it did not check in several instances. The prosecutor would not say when the student would be questioned further or when he might be arrested.

MEETING IN MARSEILLES

By Associated Press
Marseilles, France.—Nearly one hundred persons were wounded or bruised during attempts by Communist to break up a meeting of the newly organized Catholic party, presided over by General De Castelnau, here Monday night.

The list of casualties at first estimated at slightly more than a score, was increased Tuesday by reports from hospitals and police stations where many of the victims presented themselves. Senator Plesner, the Socialist mayor of Marseilles, has for-bidden all public meetings for an indefinite period.

The population of Marseilles is at a high state of feeling especially the Catholics who resent the interference with their meeting and allege that the police failed to afford them proper protection.

ASSEMBLY LEADERS WILL BACK CHILD LABOR AMENDMENT

Padway Resolution Can Not Be Amended to Provide for Referendum

By Associated Press
Madison.—The assembly leaders in the movement for a referendum on the proposed federal child labor amendment will vote for outright ratification of the amendment Wednesday, they said Tuesday. The vote on the ratification question will come in the lower house on the Padway resolution which was adopted by the senate last week.

Ed. B. Miller, New Richmond, member of one of the referendum measures, and Speaker Herman W. Schitjen who had announced that he favored a vote of the people on the matter, said that they would vote for adoption of the Padway resolution.
John W. Elber, Milwaukee, author of the other assembly proposal for a referendum, also will vote for the ratification resolution, Assemblyman
B. Z. Glass, Milwaukee, said.

Both Mr. Glass and Assemblyman
William Coleman, Milwaukee, authors of the two ratification resolutions in the lower house similar to the Padway measure, announced that they would urge adoption of the latter. The resolution by Senator Pad-way cannot be amended to provide for a referendum, Mr. Glass said, thus necessitating a record vote for or against ratification.

If the resolution is defeated, the assembly rules committee would report out the two ratifications proposals in the lower house and also the referendum measures and the legislature would be able to renew the whole matter, Mr. Glass declared.

LINCOLN GETS LIFE TERM FOR SLAYING WIFE

Lawyer-Florist Is Found Sane
by Jury in Double
Killing

By Associated Press

Geneva, Ill.—Warren J. Lincoln, lawyer-florist, was found guilty of the murder of his wife, Lina, whom he confessed killing with Byron Shoup, her brother, whose bodies he buried and whose heads he sealed in a concrete block, by a jury Monday night, and sentenced to life imprisonment.

The jury on the first ballot unanimously decided Lincoln was guilty, reports said. On the second the vote was 7 to 5 that he was sane when the crime was committed and the third unanimously declared he still is sane.

No motions were made by Lincoln's attorneys who had asked the jury to find him insane. Throughout the trial Lincoln insisted he was sane at the time of the killings and is sane today.

Lincoln appeared calm when the verdict was announced and comforted his son John, who burst into tears.

The state did not indicate whether it expected to try Lincoln for the slaying of Shoup but preparations were made by deputies for his transfer to the penitentiary at Joliet Tuesday.

OPPOSE ALL YEAR FISHING IN LAKE WINNEBAGO

ZUEHLKE ELECTED NEW PRESIDENT OF COUNTY SPORTSMEN

Outagamie County Fish and Game Association Holds Its Annual Meeting

William H. Zuehlke was elected president of the Outagamie County Fish and Game Protective Association at its annual meeting in Elk hall Monday evening. He succeeds W. R. Wheaton who held that office for several terms. H. L. Bowby was re-elected secretary and treasurer and Walter H. Gmelner was chosen vice president.

The following members were chosen for the board of directors: James McCabe, W. R. Wheaton, Walter Hughes, Oliver Smith, Alfred Bradford and Mark Catlin.

In connection with the annual meeting of the association a banquet was held at which approximately 150 were served. The principal speaker of the evening was Dr. L. A. Brenner, pastor of the First Methodist church, Chippewa Falls, whose address was on "The Ministry of the Great Outdoors."

WANT CLOSED SEASON

Reports were made of activities of the association during the year and on the state convention attended by Appleton delegates. Several resolutions on the conservation of wild life and natural resources were passed among the most important of which were condemnation of the use of spruce trees for decorating sidewalks during the Christmas season, and in favor of a closed season on hook and line fishing during the spawning season in Lake Winnebago and tributary waters.

Finances of the association were in a healthy condition, according to the report of Mr. Bowby. For the first time in its history the association had a substantial balance in its treasury, the amount being more than $150. There were 372 paid members during the year. The association had assisted in the conservation work of the state by stocking Lake Winnebago with young fish and also by hiring an officer for a brief period of warden duty.

LIKES APPLETON

Dr. Brenner, who was introduced by Dr. J. A. Holmes, retiring president of the Wisconsin Fish and Game association, is a member of the board of directors of the state association. He is no stranger in Appleton and he admitted a strong attachment to the city. He said that when he approaches the years of retirement he would like no place better than Appleton in which to live. His daughter, Miss Doris Brenner, will be remembered here as a former organist of the First Congregational church. She now is the wife of the Rev. George Stickney, Jacksonville, former assistant pastor of First Congregational church.

Dr. Brenner drew a vivid picture of the beauty of the Great Outdoors and its beneficial qualities. A true sportsman, he said, does not fish just for the sake of catching fish. There are many other inducements, among them the desire for communion with nature. Outdoor life is a refuge for business men with jaded nerves or downcast spirit. It teaches a man how to play. It also provides a means of approach to other men and aids in building strong friendships.

The Fox River Valley Fish and Game association which was organized in Oshkosh two years for the purpose of again obtaining an all year open season of hook and line fishing in Lake Winnebago and tributary waters will find little support from the Outagamie association in this enterprise.

MUST COOPERATE

This was apparent at the meeting Monday evening when several members declared themselves very strongly in opposition to fishing during the spawning season. Louis Bonini said that if sportsmen wish to preserve fishing delights for their children and children's children they must cooperate in protective enterprises. He said he could not understand how an organization which calls itself a "protective" association could do otherwise. Attorney Mark Catlin declared opposition to the Winnebago fishing bill introduced by Senator White in legislation because it does not prohibit fishing. The attorney described to what extent this form of fishing has become commercialized on Lake Winnebago, particularly on the east side. He said that on one Sunday he estimated that at least 2,000 persons were fishing through the ice, and the average catch was about ten fish.

P. H. MARTIN IS IN CRITICAL CONDITION

P. H. Martin, prominent Green Bay attorney, who has been ill for several months, still is in a critical condition, according to reports from Green Bay. While he is not in pain, he spends most of the time in a deep sleep.

A sudden decrease some weeks ago in the size of the growth that threatened his life and the rally that followed led his friends to hope that he might recover his health. It soon became apparent, however, that toxemia had developed of such proportions that it was doubtful whether his vitality could withstand the attack.

Up until about two weeks ago he seemed to be recovering. A complication which developed at that time caused him to lose considerable strength.

COUNCIL MEETS AS WHOLE COMMITTEE

The common council was in a long session Monday evening as a committee of the whole into which it had resolved itself at the last regular meeting last Wednesday. The committee discussed the matter of plans and specifications of the pavements which are to be laid this year. The questions of salaries for city officers and council members and also the proposed amendment to the zoning ordinance making possible the erection of a riding academy in a residence district in the Fourth ward also were referred to this committee. After Monday evening's session the committee again adjourned subject to the call of the chairman, George T. Richard.

40 DAYS ON STONE PILE FOR HOFKENS

Edward Hofkens, whose soft drink establishment on N. Richmond-st. was raided a week ago by Appleton police and a federal prohibition officer, appeared in municipal court Monday morning and pleaded guilty to a charge of handling illicit liquor. He was sentenced by Judge A. M. Spencer to 40 days in the county workhouse. It was at first intended to take Hofkens to the United States district court in Milwaukee but he indicated a desire to plead guilty, hence the matter was disposed of here. The incriminating evidence was saved by the prohibition officer after a race between him and the proprietor's wife to the kitchen where the liquor was kept for handy dumping into a sink.

REDUCE NUMBER OF GUARD DRILLS AS MONEY GETS LOW

Captain Gurdeman Told That Guard Appropriation Is Nearly Gone

Notice that the federal military bureau has ordered the entire National Guard of the country to reduce the number of drills for the remainder of the fiscal year which ends July 1, because of a serious shortage of funds, has been received here by Capt. E. F. Gurdeman, commanding officer of Company D, 12th Infantry. An unusual and entirely unexpected increase in the strength of the guard has been the major cause for the shortage of money. Each man is paid according to his rank, the amount corresponding with that of a man in the active service of the army, for each drill he attends. This practice has drawn seriously upon the funds with the result that the bureau finds itself in such condition that the expenditures must be lessened in order to finish the year without a deficit.

The federal government appropriated $10,200,000 for the payment of services at National Guard drills during the current fiscal year. According to a letter received from Maj. Gen. George G. Rickards, chief of the militia bureau at Washington, D. C., the guard has so increased during the last year that this amount will most probably be insufficient to meet the entire payroll.

At the beginning of the fiscal year the moneys appropriated were divided among the various states in the union according to the strength of the guard.

Following is an extract of the general order, No. 3:

1. Because of a shortage of federal funds available for armory drill pay, the militia bureau has made a definite allotment for such purposes with the directions that the amount be set aside for drills and that it is not to be exceeded.

2. In compliance with the above, the following number of drills are prescribed for the duties of the National Guard of Wisconsin between the dates of Feb. 1 and June 30, 1925: February three drills March four drills April four drills May three drills June four drills

It is not the intention of the adjutant general's office to limit the number of drills which any unit in the state might hold during this period, but it must be distinctly understood that pay for officers and men will only be remitted for the drills actually mentioned.

In regard to the third provision of the order, Capt. Gurdeman declared it is improbable that the local unit will meet once a week during the three drill months, although it will be attempted at Green Bay. Not more than a handful of men would report, he said.

Youth Comes back to many in these gland days

Gland extracts now do countless things never done before. No medical discovery of modern times has meant so much to so many. One great gland treatment is ex-gall for the liver. That is our most important gland. Probably more ill health comes from torpid liver than any other cause. And more premature old age.

No drug stimulates the liver. None ever did. But science has found that ox gall does, and countless people are getting help which used to seem impossible. What Torpid Liver Does

The liver should supply the intestines one quart of bile per day. When it doesn't things go wrong. One suffers indigestion, constipation, etc. But bile, above all, combats intestinal germs. When it is scant those germs breed by millions. They feed the blood a constant flow of poison. Then comes all the results of impure blood.

Heart and kidney troubles may be due to those poisons. Also sallow complexion, pimples, etc. High blood pressure may result. And old age comes early to those with poisoned blood.

Now a Quick Help

Now it is found that ox gall offers a quick help to many. It stimulates the liver. Often in 24 hours it brings results almost unbelievable.

Nothing else does for torpid liver what ox gall does today. Multitudes who read this can not benefit from it, and some in a large way.

But get real ox gall. Be sure of that. The best is called Dioxol. Each tablet contains ten drops of purified ox gall.

Remember that name--Dioxol. Insist that your druggist supply it. Then watch what it does to bring back health, vigor and youth. Start today.

Guarantee: Anyone not satisfied with results from the first box of Dioxol may return the empty box to the makers and receive his money back.

GREEN BAY SCHOOL NEXT TO BE VISITED

Directors of vocational schools of the Fox river valley and vicinity will hold their next regular inspection meeting at Green Bay, according to a notice received by H. H. Green Bay Vocational school is noted as a model school and its courses and work will be given a thorough inspection. The date has not yet been announced, but the meeting probably will be held during the last week of February.

Your Income Tax

The revenue act of 1924 provides that the basis for determining taxable gain or deductible loss from the sale or other disposition of property acquired after February 28, 1913--the first income tax law became effective March 1, 1913--shall be the cost of such property with certain exceptions.

The first is that if the property should have been included in the taxpayer's last inventory, the basis shall be the last inventory value thereof. For example, if a merchant in 1922 bought a certain article, and it was sold by him prior to December 31, 1923, but was included in his inventory as of that date, the taxable gain or deductible loss would be the difference between the selling price and the amount at which the article was carried in the inventory.

If the property was acquired, by gift, after December 31, 1920, the basis shall be the same as it would be in the hands of the donor or last preceding owner by whom it was not acquired by gift. For example, a man in 1921 bought stock in a corporation at $100 a share, kept it until January, 1922, when it was worth $120 and then gave it to his son who in 1923 transferred it to his wife, the stock then being worth $150 a share. If in 1924 the wife sold the stock for $200 a share, her taxable profit is not $50 but $100 a share, a gain over the cost to the last preceding owner who did not acquire the stock by gift.

In computing the gain or loss from the sale of other disposition of property acquired by gift or transfer in trust on or before December 31, 1920, or by request, device, or inheritance, the basis shall be the fair market price or value of such property at the time of acquisition.

For example, a taxpayer received in 1919 a gift of real estate having a fair market value of $10,000 which he sold in 1924 for $15,000. The original cost to the donor in 1916 was $12,000. The taxable gain, however, is $5,000.

BOYS GET SCOLDING FOR TURNING IN FIRE ALARM

In addition to the fire run to the county asylum Sunday night, the Appleton fire department answered two other weekend alarms: A chimney fire occurred at 9:55 Sunday morning at the home of J. H. Schultz, 1119 W. Superior-st. A false alarm was turned in from S. Onida-st and E. Harrison-st shortly after 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Two boys admitted turning in the alarm and were taken before the chiefs of the fire and police departments and given a severe lecture.

ORIENT ACCEPTS AMERICAN CHRIST BUT NOT ITS WAYS

Hard to Convince Natives That We Are Christians, Dr. Peabody Says in Sermon

America's Christ is welcome and wanted in the Orient but not its type of civilization, Dr. H. B. Peabody declared in his sermon at the First Congregational church Sunday morning. He returned during the week from Washington, D. C., where he attended a world missionary convention of Protestant churches attended by about 5,000 persons.

This was one of the outstanding impressions gained by the pastor from the speakers there. He described the atheism and some of the interesting tendencies of missionary effort.

"Churches must take a broader and all-inclusive social gospel to the world if its people are to be won for Christ," said Dr. Peabody. "The nations need and want Jesus Christ but they don't want our western christian civilization."

USURPER IS POOR EXAMPLE
This attitude can be understood readily, the speaker said, when we realize what foreign-owned industries are contributing as western impressions. He described a silk manufacturing plant in China owned by outside capitalists which employed women and children from the age of five years up. These people work from 5 o'clock in the morning until late at night and are paid 10 to 20 cents a day. The mills are known to make 100 per cent profit in many cases. The death rate from tuberculosis is among the highest.

Such factories as these throw the natives into confusion, Dr. Peabody said, and they don't know just what to make of our religion and ideals. Machinery, impersonal control, migration to crowded oriental cities and the bringing of women and children into factory life present a new problem.

FEAR WHITE PERIL
Missionaries are embarrassed continually because the life of America discredits the gospel they are trying to preach and which our own people are supposed to live up to. "This is the white peril," declared the pastor, in the lives of about 3,000 Chinese students who come to America and Canadian colleges to obtain an education. About one-third of them are christian when they come here and less than that number are christians when they return. They say they do not want our religion because it stands for capitalism, industrialism, materialism and imperialism. They believe the huge naval base the United States is building at Singapore is an example of imperialism. They call these things the white peril, just as we refer to their advance as the yellow peril, and they fear the consequences of the teachings of the white people.

Years ago the missionaries came back to their home people and pleaded for a united front among Protestant churches to back their work. This time they came to the Washington convention asking the churches to get together to present an all-inclusive social gospel.

This situation gives evidence, says Dr. Peabody, of the need for more christianity in politics, government, national and international affairs and in all our ways of living so that the missionaries no longer will be embarrassed by our actions at home.

ASSEMBLYMAN MILL WANTS ACTION ON CHILD LABOR

Madison—Whether Wisconsin shall ratify the proposed child labor amendment to the federal constitution is expected by members of the assembly to be decided next Wednesday. The Padway resolution, adopted this week by the senate, is set for special order of business in the lower house at that time.

No hearings will be held by the assembly labor committee on the Padway resolution and two similar proposals in the assembly, offered by William Coleman and B. Z. Glass, both of Milwaukee. The senate proposal was placed on the calendar for action by the assembly upon recommendation of Anton M. Miller, chairman of the committee on labor.

Both Mr. Glass and Mr. Coleman said they would endeavor Wednesday to have the assembly adopt the Padway resolution ratifying the amendment.

Spring Dresses Will Be Characterized By Bright Colors With Strange Names

A colorful spring is predicted by local fashion and their prophecy is partially fulfilled by the advance styles, which are made up in many bright shades. Of course, there is always one predominating note, this spring it is tan, with all its far and near relatives. Tan with a reddish hue, a honey-colored tan, rusty tans, and ambers all have their places in the spring fashion parade.

While black and dark colors are always good, they are only suited to certain types and personalities. Everything is to be in bright colors for the coming months. One modista declares she sells one dark dress to ten of bright shades.

YOUNGSTERS LIKE RED
Some of the predominating colors are blue, which is a blue with a lavender tinge and on the order of the periwinkle shade popular a few seasons ago, rust, blonde and malacca, pitch pine green, cranberry, and flame red. Flame red is much desired by the younger set.

Rosewood is a pretty color that is used for many spring dresses. Many colors are self-explanatory, so it is not hard to imagine the colors implied by burnt russet, Spanish red, crabapple, tea rose, amber, cedar, burnt almond and ginger.

The colors that need a little explaining are chess-themum which borders on a bright, henna; tadelvert, a vivid mustard color; paloma, a shade of peach; and mandarin, a light rose color. Firestone is another shade of tan.

Blonde and malacca are two shades of tan that will be seen much this season. Many of the new dresses are made up in these shades.

MULTI-TONE PRINTS
Prints will be good this season, especially when combined with a plain color in the ensemble suit that is to be so popular this spring. The prints are two or three tones and the figures used are larger. The stripes used are quite broad. Plaids are not as much favored as they were in the fall.

YOUNG MEN'S BIBLE STUDY CLASS WILL PICK OFFICERS

Election of officers and final plans for organization of a Bible study class among young men of the Y. M. C. A. will take place at a meeting Tuesday evening. The meeting will be preceded by supper at 6 o'clock. The group will be composed of men of 30 years of age and younger and all men in the city of Appleton or vicinity of that age are invited to join the organization. Meetings will be held each week.

The nominating committee appointed at the first meeting last Tuesday, which will make its report, consists of Edwin S. Godfrey, William Kiessling and C. J. Reed. The program committee which was appointed at the first meeting to make plans for the future work of the group consists of John Trautman, Roger Bond and William Kiessling.

BADGER CONSUMPTION OF GAS AGGREGATES 50 GALLONS PER CAPITA

Madison — Enough gasoline was shipped into Wisconsin during 1924 to permit the use of more than 50 gallons per person, figures compiled by T. J. Cunningham, state oil inspector, show. The total gasoline inspected by state agents during the year was slightly more than 212,500,000 gallons. Kerosene shipments were considerably less, being about 50,000,000 gallons.

July showed the greatest gasoline consumption of any month during the year, figures indicate. During that month alone, 26,282,750 gallons were inspected by state officials. October led all other months in the amount of kerosene used, there having been nearly 6,000,000 gallons consumed during that month.

The year of 1924 showed a great increase in the amounts of distillates or "furnace oils" used. Mr. Cunningham said. He estimated that between three and four times as many distillates were burned in 1924 than in 1923 as the result of the advent of the oil burning furnace.

COOLIDGE, HOOVER AND AGRICULTURE
It is a fortunate thing for the American farmer that Calvin Coolidge is president of the United States. Not only is the president deeply interested in the problem of improving agricultural conditions, but he has at his elbow probably the foremost economist of the country in Secretary of Commerce Hoover. The president has a practical knowledge of farming and is a student of this industry in a national sense. Mr. Hoover is a scientific investigator of all phases of agriculture, including production and distribution. His theories on the subject are supported by experience. The farmers have in Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Hoover the two best representatives of their interests in government that could possibly be chosen. Neither of these men is attempting to improve the lot of the American farmer by direct political action. They offer no novel or spectacular proposals to make American agriculture prosperous. Theirs is not a vote-getting program. It is an application of the maximum of American brains and good faith to the question. Both the president and his able assistant recognize the fact that legislation and government activity along limited lines may be of some assistance, but their plan in the main rests upon the sound principle of making agriculture conform to natural laws and economy.

The president's agricultural policy includes the development of cooperative marketing and an improvement in the agencies of distribution but it is recognized that these remedies can only go so far as to impart greater efficiency to the industry and to speed up economic forces. Their main contention is that improvement of agriculture lies in the development of the domestic market through two methods. The first is to limit production to the domestic demand. The second is to reduce the importation of foodstuffs by growing them in this country and making the country self-contained in its food supply.

Mr. Hoover believes that production of foodstuffs for export is not economy or profitable. It is an attempt to market foodstuffs in competition with the produce of cheap labor in foreign countries. His idea is that we should bring our production down to our home demand and then increase the home demand by raising the standard of living and adding to the purchasing power of the consumer. He does not believe that export wheat and other food staples are desirable. Having first reduced production to conform to home demand he would then adjust it to increased demand brought about by growth of population and larger buying power. He would protect the home market and the development of agricultural industries by a tariff, much as manufacturing has been protected in the past.

In other words it is Mr. Hoover's idea that the relation between domestic consumption and production is badly out of balance. He wants to restore this balance by bringing production down or increasing it to domestic requirements as the case may be. He thinks a great deal could be accomplished by the elimination of waste and greater economic efficiency, which should result in a reduction in the cost of the things the farmer has to buy and an increase in the return on what he has to sell.

We think Mr. Hoover's analysis of the agricultural situation is the clearest and sanest that has yet been presented, and that his proposals offer the wisest and surest means of bringing agriculture to a healthy state and keeping it there. An ounce of this kind of scientific treatment of a great industrial problem, according to economic laws, is worth a pound of political dope. If the American farmers put their faith in men like President Coolidge and Mr. Hoover, accept their leadership and endeavor to cooperate with them in their suggestions, it will not be many years until there is a great change for the better in American farming. There is no question but what agriculture can be placed on a stable and prosperous basis. National self-interest not only demands this but makes it imperative. For probably the first time those at the head of federal government have taken up the agricultural problem in a constructive and scientific manner, with the prospect of securing practical and permanent results.

POSTOFFICE FRANKING PRIVILEGE
The question as to how postoffice department deficits are to be avoided and the mail service placed on a self-sustaining basis does not depend wholly, perhaps not at all, upon an increase in rates. The postoffice department, like other administrative departments, is a victim of politics. There is unquestionably a great deal of waste attributable solely to the political levy, and in addition to this there is a vast amount of free service as a perquisite of politics. This latter drain on the department is the franking privilege granted to members of congress. Many hundreds of thousands of dollars are spent annually in this way to enable congressmen and senators to make themselves popular at home. According to Senator Robert B. Howell of Nebraska, the total cost of free mail sent out last year by all government departments was $12,842,659. Senator Howell brings to attention the fact that had this mail been paid for their would have been no deficit in the postoffice department.

Senator Howell proposes to check up for one year the amount of mail transmitted without charge. Following this test he would have congress appropriate annually a sufficient amount to cover the cost of transporting all franked and government mail and pay for it out of a congressional appropriation, the same as any other public charge. This is a correct law. The use of the franking privilege should not be a charge confined to mail users. It is a charge against the entire country, irrespective as to what extent it uses the mails. This is so because the franking privilege is for purely political purposes and is employed to reach the public at large. Just as it is wrong to require water users in a city to pay the cost of furnishing water for public purposes such as fire protection etc., which is a proper charge against all taxpayers so the cost of handling free mail should be assessed to the country as a whole. By no process of reasoning should those who pay for mail service be made to pay an additional sum to maintain free mail as a necessary public service or as a perquisite of politics. If congress, moreover had to appropriate a considerable sum like $12,000,000 annually to pay for free mail this would expose the abuses to public notice and undoubtedly force congress to cut the franking privilege to the minimum and to bring these charges within something like legitimate bounds. It would also put an end to the agitation to increase postal rates on various pretexts of mail that are at least sustaining, but which are entitled to consideration because they promote in a substantial degree the national welfare.

TODAY'S POEM

LOVE
LOVE have considered, do folks really know what love in its full measure means. It's something that comes to us all here but in our youth in our age in our teens.
This love of our kin is just born in the soul a love that there's nothing can sever. It's natural, real and deep, heart and whole and some thing that lives on forever.
But what of the love that we give fellow men? The friendship that leads us to find it. It comes to us over and over again. There must be real love behind it.
Faith is the thing when you and I are true. When other men have fast in you then their friendship is something genuine from the trust that grows when friendship and true love are one.
A man who is to you in good luck or bad it is to you you know you're likely to answer to friends you've had-what fellow men have really means.

PUBLIC HEALTH HUNOR
Pneumonia is now quarantined in the District of Columbia. Regulations promulgated by the commissioners of the district require that every case of pneumonia be reported within 24 hours, the patient isolated from all other persons who are not suffering from the same disease or necessarily in attendance on the patient, and on the termination of quarantine the thorough cleaning and airing of the sick room and the renovation of all woodwork before the room is again used. A fine of from 10 to 40 simoleons is to be collected from any one who violates these regulations. The humor is not in the fine, but in the renovation of the woodwork. For a piece of silly, old-fashioned public health guardian who thus recommends this action is hereby awarded the stunted gingham sunbonnet.
Pneumonia is an infectious disease. Major, after-ward Surgeon General Sternberg of the United States army, inoculated rabbits with his own saliva and produced, not pneumonia, but sputum septemia from which disease he isolated the germ we now know as pneumococcus. Sputum septemia is a kind of blood poisoning due to invasion of the blood by violent pneumococci. It may be considered the fever that goes with pneumonia. An old name for pneumonia was lung fever. The serious part of pneumonia is not the damage to the lung or lungs, not the embarrassment of breathing or the impairment of oxygenation, but the poison in the blood consisting of the substance of the pneumococci and the toxins they produce. When the pneumonia patient "passes the crisis" he is comparatively out of danger for although the lungs or lobes of lung involved in the pneumonia are still solid and ahless, his blood has developed sufficient antitoxin to neutralize the poison which has been menacing his life and there is an end of the fever, the sputum septemia.
Sternberg evidently harbored in his mouth a virulent strain of pneumococci. Nearly all of us have pneumococci in our mouth, throat or nose but only about one of each five persons has a strain of the germ which can produce disease-virulent pneumococci. Pneumonia is by no means the only disease which may be caused by virulent pneumococci; many cases of quinsy, simple tonsillitis, coryza, sinusitis, pleurisy, endocarditis (inflammation of the heart lining) with or without involvement of the heart valves, arthritis and appendicitis have been found to be due to virulent strains of pneumococci. And although we do not yet know definitely it is reasonable to suppose that a strain of pneumococci which causes tonsillitis or quinsy in Mr. A may when passed over to Mr. B cause appendicitis. On the other hand there is scientific ground for the belief as yet not proved that a given strain of pneumococci which is virulent has a specific affinity only say for adenoid tissue (such as is present in the tonsils and around the appendix) and in no circumstances can that strain cause pneumonia. What we do know about the pneumonia business gives no warrant whatever for the common supposition that a corvora or corvora is likely to "develop into" pneumonia if the victim fails to do so and so about it. Physicians or health authorities who lend their authority to any such teaching are either indulging an imagination which needs restraint or else striving to please the plain people.
If there is one kind of disease germ which is positively and absolutely not transmissible on or by an inanimate object it is the pneumonia germ.

Will a good quality of cold cream grow hair on the face? (L. M.)
Answer—Nothing will grow hair on the face. But the constant slight irritation from eternal dabbing of the face, from various chemical dopes unwise applied by gullible gals and the use of nosteriums which purport to "draw out" hair often has the effect of stimulating the growth of the normally unnoticeable down into a heavier and visible beard.

U. S. Will Pay Debts Century Old

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN
Washington, D. C.—After more than a century of debate and attempted legislation it appears that the French spoliation claims are to be paid. In his last annual message, President Coolidge recommended to congress that the claims be met by an appropriation, and a bill has now been passed that provides for the payment of $3,252,069 to the heirs of those who filed the original claims more than a hundred years ago.
The claims arose from a difficult period of early American history. It will be remembered that after the treaty of Versailles was signed in 1793, France negotiated a separate treaty with the United States. It was signed by President Wilson and other members of the United States delegation. The senate, however, refused to ratify it. The treaty provided that the United States should come to the aid of France in time of aggression against her.
In much the same manner, following the American war of the Revolution, France negotiated and concluded a separate treaty with the then new United States and it became effective. Not long afterwards France became involved in a war with England. She called upon the United States for the aid stipulated in the treaty of alliance, but President George Washington, finding the nation greatly impoverished, had the treaty abrogated on the ground that the country was not strong enough to render the aid desired. This resulted in France's executing reprisals upon American shipping. Under the treaty of alliance, the United States was to aid France in protecting her possessions in the West Indies.
THE DAYS OF PRIVATEERS
In the course of the warfare and reprisals some three thousand American vessels were seized by the French. There was a heavy trade in those days between the United States and the islands of the Indies and these ships as well as those crossing the Atlantic were preyed upon.
The war ended in 1800 and on July 31, 1801, a new treaty was concluded between the United States and France. Under its terms certain claims of Frenchmen against the United States were offset by American claims against France. Then began the long fight on the part of the American claimants to have the government indemnify them for their losses of lives, ships and cargoes. The treaty had been interpreted to provide that the government should pay the losses.
WAS LONG BATTLE
Opposition was strong from the very first. The claims first were presented to congress in 1802 and again in 1807, the house of representatives naming special committees to investigate them. Altogether there have been 40 committee reports made to congress, three of them having been adverse. Those submitted in 1813, 1822 and 1824. Presidential vetoes have prevented payment when congress has acted favorably.
The claims arising out of insurance are the principal ones unpaid. Other more direct claims have been paid piecemeal. In 1891 congress appropriated $1,304,095 in 1899, $1,055,478, in 1902, $738,831 and in 1905, $752,660.

PREGACHING HIS WAY
It is certain that the present measure will not face likelihood of a presidential veto as President Coolidge recommended it in his message. It must be understood that these claims have all been investigated by the court of claims and certified as proper. President Taft twice recommended to congress that the claims be paid, but congress at that time did not act favorably.
There will not be a single original claimant left to enjoy what is paid and it is doubtful whether there is even a son or daughter of an original claimant. It has been just 125 years since the claims originated and several generations have lived in hope of getting a windfall from the government in some cases no heirs are left. Each present claimant must prove that he actually is the heir of the claimant of Revolutionary days.

DENSE FOG SHUT
OFF VIEW OF TRAIN
FOR KAUKAUNA MEN

J. J. Martens and Fred Merbach
Recovering from Injuries in Beaver Dam Hospital

Kaukauna—J. J. Martens and Fred Merbach who crashed into a moving freight train about 5:30 Saturday evening two miles south of Beaver Dam were quite badly cut about hands and face but were not otherwise injured. It is expected they will be required to remain in the hospital at Beaver Dam for a few days before returning home.

They drove to Madison on business Saturday morning in Mr. Merbach's car. On their way home to the evening a heavy fog arose and the men were slowly "feeling" their way along the road, planning to get to Beaver Dam to spend the night.

The reflection of the car's headlights against a yellow box car only about 10 feet ahead was the first warning that the road was blocked. Although brakes were hastily applied, the momentum of the auto was too great. The front end of the machine was demolished.

Mr. Merbach's nose was broken and he suffered several gashes about his face. Two cuts were at each corner of his left eye. Mr. Merbach also injured his back. Mr. Martens was more seriously cut by glass and his hand was badly strained. He received a cut on each leg.

Pine-Tar and Honey
Still Best for Chest
Colds and Coughs

Our mothers and grandmothers would never be without pine tar syrup in the house for coughs, chest colds, etc. This was many years ago, but modern medicine has never been able to improve on this time-tested remedy. Doctors say the one tar is hard to beat for quickly loosening and removing the phlegm, and congestion that are the actual cause of the cough. At the same time pine tar and honey soothe and heal all irritation and soreness.

The kind that has been used with never failing success in thousands of families for years is that known as Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey. This is scientifically compounded of just the right proportions of pine tar, honey and other quick-acting, healing ingredients which best doctors have found to aid in quick relief. It contains absolutely no opiates, narcotics or harmful drugs, so can be given to young children—fine for spasmodic croup. It tastes good, stops the severest cough overnight, be sure you get Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey. It costs only 50c a bottle and is sold everywhere.

it’s Kind in the Country”

How often, in scores of Wisconsin’s industrial cities do we hear this statement!

Yet, how many folks right here in Wisconsin, logical prospects for the products of those factories, are buying similar merchandise shipped in from other states? Far too many, as shown by comparative sales figures compiled by Wisconsin Daily Newspapers.

These outside manufacturers, recognizing in Wisconsin a rich and responsive market, have told of the merits of their products through the advertising columns of Wisconsin Daily Newspapers.

Local manufacturers have even a better opportunity to make their closest market their best. We are prepared to render intelligent co-operation in this regard.

For helpful information address the Secretary,

STAGE And SCREEN

"PETER PAN," NEW PARAMOUNT FILM FEATURES A-1 CAST

For over half a year, the quest for a player to portray the title role in the Paramount film version of "Peter Pan" excited universal interest. Suggestions for the part poured into the Paramount studio from the four winds.

Seventeen year-old Betty Bronson finally won the role, selected by James M. Barrie, the author, himself in a competition with some one hundred aspirants for this much coveted dramatic prize. Among them were some of the world's greatest artists.

The Women's Association of the Congregational Church will hold a Food Sale at Voigt's Drug Store, Wed., Feb. 11th at 11:00 o'clock.

According to Barrie, pretty Miss Bronson is the ideal "Peter Pan." Ernest Torrence, the scout of "The Covered Wagon" and Lois Wilson's ranch foreman in "North of 36", is cast as Captain Hook, the pirate chief. Virginia Brown Faire is cast as the little fairy, Tinker Bell. Cyndie Chadwick is Mr. Darling and Anna May Wong portrays the Indian girl, Tiger Lily. All the aforementioned players appear in featured roles in the cast.

"Peter Pan," which opens a 4 days' run next Monday at the Appleton Theatre was adapted for the screen by Willis Goldbeck.

HERE'S ONE SCREEN

VAMP WHO'S BLOND

There is a popular tradition that screen "vampires" all have dark hair.

This moss-grown convention is blown higher than a kite in "Inez From Hollywood," the first National production showing at the Elite theatre, for beautiful Anna Q. Nilsson wears her own blonde hair in the part of Inez. And it has been many a moon since the screen has seen a more alluring siren than Anna. C. portrays in this picture in which she is co-featured with Lewis S. Stone.

MAE MURRAY APPEARS AS UP-TO-DATE CIRCE

Mae Murray believes in doing things differently. She designs her own clothes, creates all her dances and, with the aid of her director-husband, Robert Z. Leonard, selects her own stories.

Her most recently completed picture, "Circe the Enchantress," written especially for her by Vicente Eliasco Ibanez, comes to the Elite theatre on Thursday and Friday and according to all reports is in keeping with Mae Murray's policy of originality.

ELITE TODAY And Tomorrow

SEYMOUR, NICHOLS FARM INSTITUTES ON THIS WEEK

LEADING SPEAKERS WILL AID FARMERS TO BETTER PROFIT

Extensive Amusements Also Planned—Kaukauna Will Have Fair Next Week

Farmers will be given an opportunity to take a post graduate course, as it were, in agriculture at a series of farm institutes to be held in Outaouchee in the next ten days. Instituted this week for Seymour and Nichols, while special educational meetings will be held next week at the Kaukauna midwinter fair. Prominent experts have been engaged to speak and give demonstrations at all programs.

On Thursday, Feb. 19, the first day of the midwinter fair at Kaukauna, Peter Schwartz of Waukegan will tell about his experiences in alfalfa culture. Mr. Schwartz is proprietor of the famous "Cornfield" farms at Waukegan and is a recognized authority on the subject on which he will speak.

HATCH ON PROGRAM
K. L. Hatch of the Wisconsin college of agriculture will be the speaker at the farmers' meeting on the second day of the midwinter fair. He is director of the extension division of the department of agriculture. His address will be on the future of the dairy industry in Wisconsin. Both meetings will be conducted in the Kaukauna high school. The farm institute this year will be housed in the municipal garage instead of in the city auditorium as was the case last year. This leaves the auditorium solely for the merchants booths, Wisconsin Cheese Producers federation, and the Holstein and Guernsey breeders' associations will have booths to advertise their products. Among the prizes in the Guernsey calf to be given away by the Thimble Pulp and Paper company and a Holstein calf given away by Walter Wiekert and Outagamie County Holstein Breeders' association. The institute at Seymour will be held in the Seymour auditorium on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, while that at Nichols will be held in the city auditorium on the two days following. The programs are practically the same, except that the one at Nichols will include an address on Relief from High Water by Alan H. Tripp of Oshkosh.

ENTRIES FIRST DAY
On the first day of the institutes, entries will be made starting at 11 o'clock in the morning. At 1 o'clock in the afternoon there will be an address by N. A. Rasmussen, prominent fruit grower of Oshkosh on the subject, Care of the Small Farm Orchard. Following this the judging of the exhibits will be conducted. At 2 o'clock there will be an address on Experiences with Alfalfa Growing in Shawano, by C. Murphy. Mr. Murphy will also be in charge of the judging of exhibits.

On the second day Mr. Rasmussen will give another address at 11 o'clock on the subject, An Acre of Strawberries. An address by P. E. McNall on Why Some Farms Pay, has been canceled. Premiums will be awarded on this day. Home talent entertainment, debates and motion pictures and talks by local people will be interspersed in the program of both days. On the evening of the first day a school entertainment will be provided by the schools of the respective communities.

Nichols institutes program will include a dance Thursday evening. The program Friday evening will be presented by pupils of Cleora graded school and Spring Brook, Maplehurst, Pleasant Hill, Spring Valley and Pleasant Valley schools. Debates and special music also will be furnished.

WEEK'S CATTLE PRICES WERE SLIGHTLY HIGHER

Madison—Cattle price at the close of last week were steady, although in most instances slightly higher than the extreme low spot late last week. The state department of markets has reported. Livestock market conditions, as summarized by the department follow.

Although receipts were comparable with those of the earlier week, better grades of fed steers advanced 25 cents due to buying on outside account. Heavy kinds, handweights and well finished yearlings were in good demand. The supply of the latter were exceedingly scarce. On the other hand, the market for common and medium steers was slow as a result of liberal holdover of a week earlier.

Although the hog supplies for the first four days of the week were somewhat smaller than at the beginning of the previous week the first day brought in a record run. The time of year. Receipts for Nov. 2, 1924, were the largest in the history of the Chicago yards with the result that price levels decreased. During the latter part of the week, however, receipts decreased and the week closed with generally 10 to 25 cents above those prevailing a week ago.

HIGH POWER RADIO PAST EXPERIMENT

Tests Have Vindicated Claims of Advocates of Powerful Stations

The one outstanding achievement in radio this year will be the final vindication of high powered broadcast.

This prediction is based on a study of the experiments now going on in the industry and consideration of their rate of advance during the past two years.

Of all new ideas promulgated in radio high power broadcasting has been put into actual daily practice. It is still experimental. It is expected to be a practicality by the end of this year.

Last fall, the radio conference at Washington decided to grant high power broadcasting an experimental license. Some advocates of super-power came to the conference with the expectation of winning official recognition of this innovation.

It is generally agreed in broadcast circles that this recognition will come at the next conference. Meantime, experiments with higher power, from 1000 to 5000 watts will be conducted to determine the power most beneficial to radio broadcaster and fan.

OTHERS ON TEST

All other work in connection with radio development is in an experimental stage and is not expected to get out of it by the end of the year. In this category may be listed:

1. Transoceanic two-way broadcast. An important event when undertaken, and then only a matter of experimental curiosity.

2. Development of low wave length, or high frequency, broadcast. Although at all times accomplished, new laboratories have been set up and new tests will be devised to establish it on a practical basis.

3. Radio transmission and reception of photographs. It is in a crude undeveloped stage and needs research that will take its study much past 1925.

MORE STUDY NEEDED

4. Directional transmission and reception. Marconi's hobby. It is in use at a few harbor and ship stations, but only for experimental reasons. It is still the subject of intensive research and experimentation.

5. Elimination of static fading and other interferences. Far from effective control.

6. Secret transmission and reception of private messages. This has been the desire of engineers for years past. They are still experimenting and refrain from promising final results by the end of this year.

Best of these is the development of radio receivers. But there will be nothing new in this, merely changes and variations of old principles, just as they were last year.

WANT LEGION POST FIRST IN WISCONSIN

Oney Johnston Post Launches Campaign to Pass Milwaukee and Racine

In an effort to place the Oney Johnston post of the American legion ahead of Racine and Milwaukee in the state wide membership campaign, local officers have laid plans by which they hope to push the application post into first place. It is now rated as third in the campaign.

The method to be used to enroll members will be to fold a list of former ex-service men is available containing names of over a thousand men for whom officers of the Oney Johnston post filled application blanks for adjusted compensation. Present legionnaires will be mailed cards with the names of prospects who live in their neighborhood. Thus each legionnaire will be held responsible for bringing in some specific man.

In addition ward teams will be appointed. These teams will work also on specific lists of men. Ex-service men who do not desire to be solicited may send the amount of the annual dues to T. H. Morris, commander at the Seacker 3rd street store. Mr. Morrissey announced.

Telltale "T" Branded On Cow Gives Protection To Buyer

Washington—Farmers are fast coming to the need of eradicating tuberculosis from the cattle of the country.

At the time tuberculosis in cattle was to be found only east of the Allegheny mountains. Now in every state in the Union there is some tuberculosis in cattle and swine.

Farmers' organizations are finding it much to their advantage to give the tuberculosis test to every cow in their districts.

The test is made by injecting a chemical known as tuberculin between the layers of the skin. If an animal is tubercular there will be a swelling at the point of injection which can be observed in 48 to 105 hours.

The government and state takes care of the test or the less to the farmer who has tubercular cattle. When a cow proves to be a tester she is branded generally by burning a "T" on the jaw. The owner generally gets about two thirds of the value of those affected.

It is impossible to tell by external appearances except in extreme cases whether the animal is affected. Often a very healthy looking cow will be affected.

The tubercular cow is not only a menace to other cattle but is also a common source of infection to hogs. Swine seem to be extremely susceptible to tuberculosis. Many farmers offer 10 cents extra per hundred as a premium for hogs which come from a country where all cows are tested and certified.

Most progressive farmers have adopted what is known as the exclusive annual tests. They are made and a herd is found to be not affected the owner is given a certificate by the state and federal government.

Cattle from "excluded" herds are selling much higher at all community public sales.

BEAR CREEK STARTS TEST ASSOCIATION

A meeting in the village hall at Bear Creek the Clintonville Bear Creek Cow Testing association was organized with a membership of 26 permanent members. Because of the fact that a majority of the members are centered about Bear Creek village will be the center for meeting and banking. Alvin S. Peterson was elected secretary for the association and already has tested 13 of the herds for the month of January. The officers elected are: Ernest Thomas, president; Henry Flanagan, vice president; John Fitzgerald, secretary and treasurer. These officers together with John Ruckdahl of Sugar Bush and Herbert Stoege of Larrabee will compose the board of directors. The association is off with enthusiasm and expects a successful year of work.

ALFALFA SEED SHOULD BEAR NAME OF STATE

Madison—All alfalfa seed should be plainly labeled with the name of the state in which it was produced, the Wisconsin department of agriculture has recommended.

It was pointed out that alfalfa seed from certain states is not satisfactory for use in northern states and the farmer the department said is entitled to know the name of the state whence it came. A large amount of seed from other states comes under the label of "Northwestern Alfalfa" the department said recommending that this name be dropped.

FAIRFIELD TELLS STUDENTS WHAT FRIENDSHIP MEANS

A friend is one who is willing to sacrifice his life for you, who believes in you who will support you and back you up in the very end," was Prof. O. P. Fairfield's definition of a friend as set forth in a speech at Friendship before the combined High Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. Sunday night.

Prof. Fairfield developed three points. He said first, that control of human life is not intellectual. It is not controlled by the emotions. It is a second point was that we all are imperfect. It is the general. We should face all of each one's life in our opinion. He gave as his third point that the highest point of attainment is small in quantity.

These points were applied to campus life. "Friendship has its stages, a lower stage and a higher stage. It should be a great, bold, so that one should look up to refinement and not down to grossness. Persons should inventory one and another before falling in love."

Schmit Guernsey Cow New County Champion

Buttercup of Ravine Produces 765.75 Pounds of Butterfat in Year's Test—Pays to Test Herd, Greenville Farmer Says

Outagamie county's milk producing champion has been displaced by a new record holder. Buttercup of Ravine (87150), a purebred Guernsey cow bred and owned by George Schmit and sons, proprietors of Ravine farm Greenville. She has completed a yearly official record during which she produced 14,951.17 pounds of milk and 765.75 pounds of butterfat. She showed an average test of 5.11 per cent fat for the year. She displaces the champion by a production of 47 pounds of fat more than the former record holder.

This cow began test at the age of five years, six months and twenty-four days. She was milked four times a day throughout the year and was given 2.3 day test every month by an official supervisors sent to the farm by the college of agriculture at Madison.

In addition to these tests she was given six different check tests, each two days in length. These check tests were ordered by the American Guernsey Cattle club and some were run by supervisors from neighboring states. A check test was in progress the day she finished her year of test. On that day she gave 22.4 pounds of milk testing 6.95 per cent, showing that she is a persistent producer. The milk from the farm is sold to Borden condensary and the value of her product during her year of test was $380.78.

Buttercup is sired by Bluebird's May Queen's May Rose a bull which has four daughters with advanced registry records. The four have an average of more than 692 pounds of butterfat and not all of them were of full age when tested. The sire, Buttercup's maternal ancestry traces back to the foundation stock which J. H. Schmidt purchased in the east when he entered purebred cattle dairying in 1907. The mother of Buttercup still is on test and is expected to finish with a better butterfat record than her daughter.

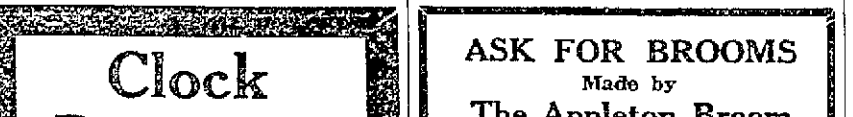

There are three daughters of Buttercup now in the herd. Two of them already are producing. Her first daughter has an official record of 14,000 pounds of milk.

REVENUE COLLECTOR WILL BE SENT HERE

A special deputy collector of internal revenue will be sent here to take charge of the federal income tax work according to an announcement.

10,023.2 pounds of milk containing 511.11 pounds of butterfat at the age of two years and twenty-four days. She was under a severe handicap at one time during the test as she almost died during a case of alfalfa bloat.

Buttercup soon is to freshen again. She is now in calf to Lilly's Golden May Secret the present herd sire, a son of Pencoyd's Golden May Secret. The latter is a $10,000 bull. The dam of Mr. Schmidt's bull has a record of 700.55 pounds of butterfat and the granddam's record is 1,019.25 pounds of fat.

Mr. Schmit is a firm believer in official test work. He thinks it is better to keep fewer animals and feed them to the utmost. He thereby increases his income and the net profit of each cow. The records convince him that it pays to milk four times a day, do the extra work and spend the time the testing entails. The value of cows and their offspring is increased considerably by the record the cow makes and this compensates as well as the increased production.

ROHAN ELECTION ILLEGAL, CITY ATTORNEY RULES

MUST ELECT SCHOOL HEAD IN SUMMER

Bosser Advises Board of Education That Election Must Be in June

R. J. Rohan, principal of the second district of schools in Appleton is not the legally elected superintendent of Appleton's educational system on the basis of an opinion submitted to the board of education by A. C. Bosser, city attorney.

Attorney Bosser, who was requested for an opinion when the election on Jan. 5 was disputed by several members of the board, holds that the election was illegal for the reason that the city special charter provides that the superintendent shall be elected "annually at a regular meeting in June."

The principal issue at stake was whether the special charter provision is mandatory or merely advisory in effect. Mr. Bosser holds that the rule is mandatory.

HEARD SATURDAY NIGHT

A special meeting of the board was called by Mayor Goodland Saturday evening to examine the opinion. The discussion indicated that some of the members were not satisfied with the result and that they may go a step farther by asking the state attorney general for an opinion. Mr. Bosser was not present at the meeting, his opinion was submitted in writing.

With respect to the application of the special charter handed down by the state attorney general's department on Feb. 28, 1922, in which it was declared that the laws relating to the public school system as set forth in the special charter of Appleton is still in force, and that such laws control when applicable.

PROVIDES 1 YEAR TERM

Section 4 of Chapter 10 of the special charter is quoted to show that the election is prescribed for a regular meeting in June and that the term of office is for one year, instead of three years for which Mr. Rohan was elected. The section is in part as follows:

"The duties of the board of education shall be as follows: 1. To elect annually, at a regular meeting in June, a city superintendent of schools, and one of the number to officiate as clerk."

Touching upon the question as to whether the rule is mandatory or directory, Mr. Bosser's opinion is: "I have carefully examined the decisions of the courts of last resort in this and other states and while I find no decision of the Supreme court of the state of Wisconsin directly in point, do find that the weight of authority on facts similar is to the effect that the provision of the special charter of the City of Appleton, relating to the time of the election of the city superintendent of schools is mandatory."

"For the above reason it is my opinion that the board of education, at the meeting held on the 5th day of January, 1925, was without authority to elect a city superintendent of schools for the year following the regular meeting of said board to be held in the month of June, 1925."

MEET ON WEDNESDAY

Whether the board will consider the opinion final may be determined at the next meeting which will be at 7:15 Wednesday afternoon. George H. Packard cited a case in which a man was elected school superintendent in Washburn while that person was still attending the University of Wisconsin. The case, it is said, was carried to court, and the board of education was upheld.

The inconvenience of waiting so late in the year as the latter part of June is considered the most objectionable feature of the present situation. Teachers are to be engaged, and a plan of administration and a course of study are to be worked out. Mr. Rohan and the men who are to be principals of the three junior high schools have already been organizing this work. It is expected that the work will go on with the cooperation of Miss Carrie E. Morgan, present superintendent of schools.

BOSSEY URGES CHANGE

Mr. Bosser was not asked to give an opinion on the rights of the board in case of a vacancy. Miss Morgan handed in her resignation, but it never was presented to the board and has never been acted upon.

The city attorney suggests that the state legislature be petitioned to amend the statutes to set the time of the election of a superintendent earlier in the year. The status also would be changed if Appleton adopted the "city plan" of union system of schools.

Whereas, the union system has never had sufficient support to be carried in every district, Mr. Bosser suggests that the city council has authority to consolidate all four districts in one and then call for another referendum on the union system, as the one district would differ from the union system, and the latter would be certain of adoption when the issue is decided by the electors as a whole rather than by district.

Committee Will Meet

Progress made in securing Appleton along health lines will be taken up by the health committee of the better cities contest at a meeting at 7:15 Tuesday evening in the chamber of commerce rooms. Arrangements will be made to complete this phase of the contest work.

TWO DAY CLINIC OPENS HERE TODAY

The second free baby clinic conducted by Appleton Women's club opened Tuesday morning at the clubhouse with Dr. Sylvia Stuessey of the state board of health in charge. While the attendance was not as large as at the clinic a number of weeks ago it was good. The time the clinic will be conducted for two days so that mothers who were unable to take their children to the last one may have them examined now.

Mrs. C. O. Gochmeyer, local chairman, has urged that if possible mothers take their children in the morning in order to relieve congestion in the afternoon. The clinic is to be conducted from 9 o'clock in the morning until 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

A corps of local nurses is assisting Dr. Stuessey with her work. The club will hold another clinic in March but it is not known whether Dr. Stuessey will conduct it. The state department of health has informed the local group that it may not be possible for her to be here at that time.

DOG BATTLES WOLF BUT SHOT ENDS STRUGGLE

Rhineland—A large timber wolf entered the farm yard of Oscar Swanson, near Loon lake Monday and was attacked by an Airedale dog. The animals engaged in desperate battle which would probably have ended in victory for the dog had not a shot from Swan's rifle finished the wolf. The Airedale was only slightly hurt while the wolf's head and sides were terribly wounded. The wolf weighed nearly 80 pounds.

COMPLETE EAU CLAIRE BRIDGE EARLY IN SPRING

Eau Claire—The second highway bridge across the Chippewa river in Eau Claire, to be built within a year with state and county aid, is nearing completion and will probably be thrown open to traffic within two months, it has been announced.

The steel and concrete bridge was built to replace the old Shawtown bridge across the river in the lower section of the city. All the piling on the steel spans was completed on Saturday, and all that remains is to pour the concrete for the floor, which will be done as soon as the weather conditions permit.

The bridge will cost $100,000. It is a rod below the old bridge. The old Shawtown bridge, according to engineers, has the longest wooden span, 274 feet, of any street bridge in the United States. The other state aid bridge, completed last fall, was at Madison street.

CARS STALLED IN SOFT COVERING OF NEW SEWER

Several automobiles were stalled in the mud on Richmond st. Monday morning as a result of street work that had been done there last fall. A big storm sewer had been installed there last year but it was principally the refilling of dirt on the service extensions in the street that caused the trouble Monday. The covered trenches had sunk in, and the recent rains and with rising frost provided traps for automobiles. Employees of the street department repaired the street Monday with an application of cinders.

Insurance Adjusters Inspect Ruins of Buildings Destroyed by Fire

Insurance adjusters were at the Outagamie co. asylum Tuesday appraising the value of the buildings that were destroyed by fire the day previous. The property destroyed was covered by insurance in a blanket policy. The insurance of $260,000 carried on all asylum property was divided among the various insurance companies represented in this county. What indemnity the county will be able to collect has not yet been determined.

A meeting of the board of trustees of the county asylum, consisting of Attorney Francis S. Bradford, Charles Freund and Thomas Kelly, will be called soon for the purpose of deciding what action should be taken toward rebuilding the bays. The three bays were valued at from $6,000 to $7,000 each, one of them being practically new.

Robert Carson, the inmate who set the buildings afire, is still being held in the county jail pending further developments.

Initiate 2 Candidates

Two candidates were initiated into the Barbers union at the meeting Monday evening in trades and labor hall. This was a regular business meeting.

Developments in view of his violent condition it is doubtful whether he will be returned to the county asylum.

Steps may be taken shortly to have him transferred to the asylum for the criminally insane at Waupun, it transpired Tuesday.

AILMENTS OF YOUNG GIRLS

Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound School Teacher's Experience

Evanston, Wyoming—"A few years ago I had troubles every month such as girls so often have, and would suffer awfully every time. I was teaching school and it made it hard for me as I had to go to bed for two or three days. One day my mother suggested that I take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

which I did, and it did wonders for me. In the course of a year I married and after my first baby was born I got up too soon and it caused a displacement. This troubled me so that I could hardly walk or do my housework. I knew what the Vegetable Compound did for me before so I took it again. It strengthened me and now I have five little kiddies. The eldest is six, the baby is five months old and I have twin boys three years old and a boy of five years. I do all my own housework, washing and ironing, and I never felt better in my life. I owe my health to your wonderful medicine."

CONSIDER RULES FOR STATE VOLLEYBALL TOURNAMENT

The special committee in charge of the state V. M. C. A. volleyball tournament which will be held in Appleton on April 25 this year will hold a meeting Wednesday afternoon at the V. M. C. A. ZEEGERS ARRAIGNED ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Peter Zeegers, who was taken into custody immediately after the scuffle with his cousin Peter Vander Weiden in which the latter suffered severe injuries to his head, was taken into municipal court Monday afternoon and formally charged with "assault with intent to do great bodily harm." No plea was entered, and only the complaint was read. Bail was fixed at $1,000 in default of which Zeegers will be returned to the county jail. An interpreter will have to be used in this case inasmuch as Zeegers speaks but very little English.

Board Will Meet

Directors of the chamber of commerce will hold their biweekly meeting in the chamber offices Wednesday evening. Consideration will be given to legislative matters and other business.

She Says:

"I Am Thin"

Her Friend Says:

"She Is Skinny"

If she only knew that she could put on at least 5 pounds of good healthy flesh in 30 days she wouldn't be worrying about her peaked face, hollow cheeks and neck and run down looks.

She has tried Cod Liver Oil but the ill-smelling, nasty tasting stuff upset her stomach and made her feel worse than before.

Doctors and good pharmacists know that Cod Liver Oil is full of vitalizing vitamins that make flesh, create vigor, build appetite, restores the power to resist disease and chases away nervousness.

But it's horrible tasting stuff and every day fewer people are taking it for doctors are prescribing and the people are fast learning that they can get better results with McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

which Schmitz Bros. Co., Downer's Drug Store and druggists all over the country are having a tremendous demand for.

It is a wonderful upbuilding medicine for skinny, backward children, especially after sickness and 60 tablets only cost 60 cents.

One woman gained 10 pounds in 22 days and if any skinny man or woman can't put on 5 pounds in 30 days your druggist will gladly return the purchase price.

But be sure and get McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablet.

COUNTY ATTORNEY PROBES WOMAN'S KIDNAPPING TALE

Neenah Woman Tells Police She Was Taken to Lake Shore Hut and Assaulted

Neenah—That she was snatched off the street by one man, covered with a blanket by another and thrown into a car and taken a prisoner to a spot about 5 miles south of the city on the lakeshore and left tied hand and foot since Saturday morning was a story told by Mrs. Elta Meyer, Main-st, to Neenah police Monday morning.

Chief of Police Charles Watts and Sergeant Harold Noova were called by phone at 6 o'clock Monday morning to the Joseph Buser farm where they found Mrs. Meyer in an exhausted condition. The police at once told a story of how she was on her way to her work at the Gus & John restaurant at an early hour Saturday morning. Out of the dense fog came the auto which drove up to the curb. She was asked to be assisted to her work in the car. She accepted the invitation but before she could move the men had pounced upon her and threw her into the car, she claimed. She did not know where they were taking her until the car stopped along the lake shore and she was hurried out and into a cabin where she was assaulted and left tied. She stated that she managed to loosen the ropes about her ankles but was so weak that she could not undo the ropes which held her hands. She told the police that she did not know what occurred after that but when she gained consciousness she was lying in a muddy ditch. That was Monday morning.

She made her way to the Buser farm house where she called the police. She was brought to her home where she is confined to her bed.

Mrs. Meyer claims she recognized one of the men whose name is known to the police. The entire matter has been turned over to the district attorney for investigation.

Chief Watts went to Oshkosh Monday morning where he spent half of the day in putting the case before the attorney.

Way To Man's Heart Is To Ignore Him

BY CYNTHIA GREY

Men are like mice. If you run after them and try to catch them, they will run for dear life, whisk into their hiding places, and never let you catch a glimpse of them again.

But if you leave them alone, and pretend that they're not even worth noticing, they will come to play at your very feet and do their best to make friends with you.

And then if you have had the foresight to have your trap all set and baited with their favorite food, you have caught your mouse for your man in the twinkling of an eye.

Many is the lesson that has been learned from the busy bee and the non-union ant, but the wise girl can find out all she needs to know from the wary mouse!

QUESTIONS—ANSWERS

Dear Miss Grey: My mother won't let me go to dances with my girl friend. She says it's unsafe, but I can't see where it's hurting my girl friend. She has a glorious time and heaps of beaux while I sit at home every night. I am 17, plenty old enough to take care of myself. Isn't it silly of mother to keep me at home?—Discontented.

No. It's very wise of her. And even though you can't see where it's hurting your girl friend, your mother probably can. Such experience coarsens even the finest girl. In time, I consider you fortunate in having a mother such as yours.

Dear Cynthia: A man who has a wife and two children in Lithuania has asked me to marry him. They will never leave the old country, and he provides for them. Shall I marry him?—Rosie.

You can't marry a man who is already married. The ceremony wouldn't make you his wife. And the man would be a bigamist, who could be arrested and thrown into jail at any time. The man knows all this, of course. Don't let him lead you astray.

New Actor Steps Into Limelight Suddenly

Hollywood—Watch this young man John Gilbert, who is being featured by the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer organization.

Opportunity for quick popularity is being fairly flung at him. Within the past few months he has had coveted roles in "His Hour," "He Who Gets Slapped," "The Snob" and "The Wife of the Centaur."

And he is to have the swanky part of "Danilo" in "The Merry Widow," I am reliably informed.

For a young man whose face had not hitherto been prominently seen in motion pictures, that is getting on.

John Gilbert is one of that coterie of urbane, dark, contained movie heroes who are being groomed to engage, primarily, the middle-aged women of screen audiences. The women whose girlhood anticipated some of the freedom and sophistication of the current flapper but whose hero isn't the fast worker of the younger set.

It is this feminine contingent, rather than the verdant young thing or the sentimental old ladies, whom picture producers today are trying to enlist as theater regulars. They are the most critical. And the flappers and the grandmas are consistent patrons anyway.

Gilbert, then, is a little too speedy for the aged generation and perhaps a little too slow for the impetuous ingenue, which, theoretically at least, may be as close as one can come to being all things to all women.

By his own words, Gilbert is a leading man who wants to play characters. A leading man, that is, but not so easy to achieve when the actor is as good looking as John. Producers as a rule don't employ handsome fellows to hide their attractiveness under "character" veneer. To be sure, he'll not always have to play the impeccable hero—especially if he addresses himself to middle-aged women, who have presumably learned that few men are either wholly villainous or heroic—but he will probably not be allowed far beyond that tether.

That is why, even before he came to M-G-M, he had, as he says, "the fight of my life to get to do 'Monte Christo,' and why he was not permitted to play 'Svengali.' He even had the temerity to want to impersonate the sorry clown in "He Who Gets Slapped," instead of the romantic lead.

"Surely," pleads John Gilbert, "there are some leading men who can do something besides making eyes at the ingenue."

Perhaps, John. But ingenues are so insistent about having eyes made at 'em. And the producer has to think about his bread and jam rather than the artistic aspirations of his lead actors.

Adventures Of The Twins

At The Skating Pond

"A frog he would a-wooing go, Whether his mammy would let him or no."

sang Snitcher Snatch, the goblin, as he popped out of the chimney in the professor's house and looked around to see what he could see.

He had had some fun with the professor and now he was looking for something else.

He sprang down off the roof and took the road to town again, singing, "A frog he would a-wooing go," with all his might.

On his way he passed the pond. It was frozen over and all the boys and girls were skating and having a fine time.

Snitcher Snatch stopped and watched them.

"I'd like to have a good time, too," he said.

He looked around, and there, almost beside him, was a pair of bright new skates that some child had forgotten.

"A frog he would a-wooing go. And a goblin can skate if he knows how—or no."

sang Snitcher Snatch sitting down and clamping the skates to his heels.

Then he struck right out and mingled with the crowd.

At first he fell a good bit, but by and by he got the hang of it, and he sailed around the ice pond as well as the best of them.

"Look at the funny little boy!" said some of the skaters.

"My ears! My ears!" thought Snitcher Snatch. "They'll give me away, as they are all sharp-pointed at the top. What can I do?"

But he soon saw.

A boy had gotten too warm and had taken his ear-muffs off and stuffed them into his pocket.

But one ear-muff hung out and it didn't take Snitcher Snatch long to spy it.

So he skated beside the boy till he got a good chance. Then he pulled the ear-muffs out very softly and put them on his own ears.

"Now no one will know that I'm a goblin," he chuckled. "My long nose won't matter. Lots of people have long noses. Look at the president."

So he skated around and no one noticed him much.

At last he had a good chance to do what he had really come to do. To do some mischief.

There was a sign on a thin place in the ice which said "Danger."

The goblin skated close to it, being so light on everything, and yanked up the "Danger" sign and skated away.

Then he stuck the sign in another place altogether, propping it up with some snow and ice till it stuck.

Then he sat down on the bank and watched. But he took his skates off so he could run.

All the skaters commenced to skate where the thin ice was, because the sign was gone and they were having such a good time they never stopped to think.

"Besides," thought they, "it's getting colder and the ice is thicker and the constable has taken the sign down."

But pop! crack! Six fell in! Nobody was drowned but they got a chill and a soaking.

"I guess I'll be going," said Snitcher Snatch.

"Did anybody see a little goblin around here?" asked Nancy's voice as the Twins arrived.

But nobody had.

I know you will never be anything but restless and unhappy, Sally dear, as long as your business and personal interests both are bound up in your employer, and he is a married man. When I was with you you could talk of nothing else except John Prescott and John Prescott's business.

I think perhaps my thoughts were turned to you in a little stronger direction this morning because John Prescott made an appearance at the steel mills armed with a note from Mr. Hamilton asking me to show him all over the place and give him any other attention he might require. The first thing that Prescott said to me was: "Aren't you some relation of Mrs. Atherton's?"

I answered: "I am the cousin of her late husband." Then he launched into the most laudatory panegyric I have ever heard. If one was to believe him there was only one woman in the world who could not only understand the mysteries of the advertising business, but unravel and make them plain as well to clients and the reading public.

"Most women who are good executives are nothing else," he said. "They are sul generalists—they are neither women nor men, and you cannot treat them like one or the other. Consequently you are always in a state of annoyance for fear you will not do the right thing. But your cousin is the most womanly and appealing. She has the big heart of a woman and the big brain of a man."

"She didn't seem to appeal to Sam very much," I volunteered, for I was a little miffed by the way he referred to you and what he said, but the way he said it. I felt he had more interest in you than a man with a lovely wife should have.

"I got that idea also from my wife who used to be a friend of hers. That Mrs. Atherton had not been very happy in her married life."

"Isn't Mrs. Prescott still a friend of Mrs. Atherton's?" I asked.

"She froze up, and after answering curtly, 'Yes,' he seemed to think he had been too chummy with me or something, and said no more."

I took him over the whole plant, and though he didn't say in so many words, I gathered the old man wanted him to come over and take hold. This being the case, you'll probably come along with the rest of the baggage—I can see your eyes shoot fire as you read that last sentence. All the same, you are wondering what has come over me—poor little me, who was so devoted to you, who dwelt upon your slightest word, and who thought everything you did was perfect. "The boy" you used to call me.

Well, Sally, I have grown up. I have found out that many of the things you said to me are true. You remember when you told me how differently I would feel when I found the right woman, and how at that time I would know that the feeling I had for you was not love, only a friendly and platonic relationship.

Sally, I have found the right woman—the one woman for me in all the world—a woman who brings to the surface all my protective instincts, all my unselfish care, all my feeling of worthiness of her great love.

She is little and golden-haired, with great blue eyes that fill with tears quickly. She seems to be made only for love, and I am going to marry her as soon as she gets her divorce. (Copyright, 1924, NEA Service, Inc.)

EAT AND—

—Lose Weight—Gain Weight—

One-half cup stewed rhubarb, 1 piece crisp broiled bacon, 1 cup vegetable soup, 1 cottage cheese sandwich, 8 ounces halibut steak, 3 new beets sliced in lemon juice, 1/2 cup combination vegetable salad, 2 tablespoons pineapple sponge, 1 pint skimmed milk, 1 toasted bran muffin, 2 slices rye bread.

Total calories, 1152. Protein, 296; fat, 322; carbohydrate, 524. Iron, .0192 gram.

PINEAPPLE SPONGE

Two cups chopped fresh pineapple, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup water, 2 eggs (whites), 1 tablespoon granulated gelatin.

Combine water, sugar and pineapple and cook for 15 minutes. Soften gelatin in four tablespoons cold water. Let stand 10 minutes. Add to boiling fruit and stir until gelatin is perfectly dissolved. When cool and beginning to thicken add the whites of the eggs beaten until stiff and dry. Turn into a mold and put on ice to chill and become firm. The yolks of the eggs are used for a boiled custard sauce for the rest of the family.

Total calories (without sauce), 1202. Protein, 110; fat, 12; carbohydrate, 1080. Iron, .0088 gram.

Two tablespoons of this dessert is less than one-eighth of the whole.

One-half cup stewed rhubarb, 2 slices bacon, 1 fried egg, 3 slices fried corn meal mush, 3 tablespoons maple syrup, 1 cup spring vegetable soup, 2 heaping tablespoons corn soufflé, 1 cottage cheese sandwich, 8 ounces halibut steak, 3 new potatoes in 1/4 cup cream sauce, 3 new beets in lemon butter, 1/2 cup combination vegetable salad with 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, 4 tablespoons pineapple sponge with 4 tablespoons boiled custard sauce, 1 cup fresh cherries, 1 pint whole milk, 1 toasted bran muffin, 2 tablespoons croutons with soup, 4 slices rye bread, 3 tablespoons butter, 2 cheese cups to accompany dinner salad.

Total calories, 3937. Protein, 476; fat, 1631; carbohydrate, 1830. Iron, .0209 gram.

Add more butter to the vegetable soup for this menu and if possible make it of whole milk or cream.

If actually measured, two heaping tablespoons of any dish like corn soufflé would mean four level tablespoons.

This cottage cheese sandwich should be made rich with cream butter on the bread and mayonnaise.

When preparing the beets, sprinkle liberally with sugar, spread generously with butter and then add lemon juice to make pliant.

YOUNG FOLKS VISITS

When younger people come to visit the daughters, it is not necessary that their mother stay at home, since the daughters take their mother's place.

COLDS

"Pape's Cold Compound" Breaks a Cold Right Up

Take Pape's Cold Compound every three hours until three doses are taken. The first dose always gives relief. The second and third doses completely break up the cold. Pleasant and safe to take. FASHION HINTS

WRIST BOUQUETS

Small wrist bouquets of tiny roses, forget-me-nots and ferns are very much the rage with debutantes.

FLOWERED SILK

Flowered silk in soft pastel colors as well as in the more striking contrasts is very much in evidence at Palm Beach.

FUR COATS

For bordered coats are to be the rule for spring, though frequently there is no fur used anywhere else.

RIBBED SILKS

Black ribbed silks are to be used for many of the smartest ensemble costumes for spring.

FOR WINTER SPORT

The unlined chiffon or brocade wrap, swathed with fur, is the popular model for the winter resort.

VERY POPULAR

Ottoman silk in gray and the beige shades is very popular for three-piece outfits.

DINNER GOWNS

Magenta, red, crepe de chine and chiffon make most attractive dinner gowns, entirely self-trimmed.

WIDE JABOT

The wide jabot of lace frequently follows the line from shoulder to hem on the new dinner gowns.

MANY FLANNELS

The flannel dress of this spring comes in the greatest variety of styles and in lovelier colors than ever before.

SILVER SLIPPERS

The silver or gold kid slipper is very popular for evening wear, more so than the brocade materials that have been so much the vogue.

Household Hints

IRONING CHIFFON

After washing chiffon press it while still damp with a warm but not hot iron.

TEST FOR JELLY

Jelly is done when a very little poured from a spoon forms a single large drop and breaks quickly away from the spoon.

TO POLISH GOLD

You can produce a brilliant polish on gold or silver by covering it with a paste of sifted whiting and ammonia, and permitting the paste to dry on the silver surface. Then brush off with a soft brush and polish with chamol.

COOKING CEREALS

Cereals should absorb nearly all the water they are cooked in. If too moist when nearly done, cook uncovered for a time.

IRON STAINS

Water that is strongly impregnated with iron is not to stain clothes that are washed in it. This may be counteracted by adding a heaping teaspoon of washing soda for every gallon of water.

BARRED APPLES

This makes an unusual dessert. Peel apples and scoop out the cores, then cook till tender in a sirup strongly flavored with vanilla. Drain, and fill the hollows left by removing the cores with powdered macaroons.

STAINS ON STEEL

Rub stains on steel knives with a cut potato dipped in scouring brick.

SUN AIDS KEYS

The leadard of a piano should not be kept covered all the while, since exposure to sunlight is one of the best preventives against yellowing keys.

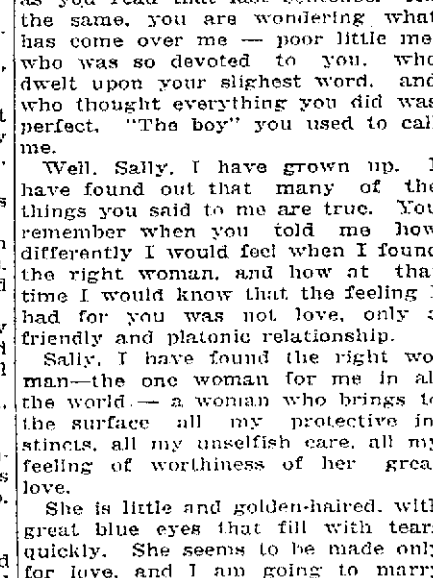

Safety Hints

CLEAR STAIRS OF OBSTACLES

Door stops, when left near the bottom of a staircase, are very dangerous. If one should step on such an object, a sprained or broken ankle, or a hard fall, which would cause serious injury, may result. Keep door stops back against the wall.

Women Who Age

All welcome to this test By Edna Wallace Hopper

At a grandmother's age, I keep my youthful bloom and contours. The thousands who see me daily on the stage and elsewhere know that I look 19.

That is due to factors science made for me, and one is my White Youth Clay.

This is a new type clay, white, refined and dainty. It is nothing like the crude and muddy clays so many have employed.

It combines two clays with other needed factors. The clays are clean and white. This is a dainty application, and the final result of 20 years of scientific study.

White Youth Clay purges the skin of all that clogs and mars it. It removes the causes of blackheads and blemishes. It draws the blood to the skin to nourish and revive it. The result is a rosy afterglow which amazes and delights.

It combats all lines and wrinkles, reduces enlarged pores. Many women seem to drop ten years with a single application.

"Clay is a beauty essential. No woman can look her best without it, or keep her youth. In all the ages none have found a beauty help to compare with clay."

Now clay is made inviting. It is made to combine added helps. Whatever other clay you may have tried, you owe yourself a test of this new type.

APPLETON GETS SET FOR NEENAH INVASION FRIDAY

Orange Five Plans To Take Revenge For Disastrous Defeat

Twin City Cagers Have Best Basketball Prospects in Years This Season

Appleton high school Friday evening will clash with Neenah here in an attempt to square its account with the visitors who two weeks ago took the Orange into camp by a one-sided score, for the first time in more than a decade. Weakened by the suspension of two regulars, the Orange was slowed up badly in the previous game, but since that time has defeated Fond du Lac, accounted the strongest contender for the Valley conference championship.

When Neenah is not in the conference the Twin City school will play in the district tournament and is looking for a place in the first division this year, when the play starts in Oshkosh next month. Therefore there is a chance that Appleton and Neenah will clash in the state tournament if both come through as they started, and it will be interesting to note how they stack up normally.

Neenah has one of the best quintets it has had in many years. The coaching of George Christoph, former Lawrence captain, has imparted a lot of skill and as he had good material to start with, his quintet looks like a winner.

In the game with Appleton two weeks ago the Neenah boys were "on" and nothing could stop them. They caged the ball from all angles and their floor work was beyond criticism. If they retain their pep and form Friday night, the Orange will have a hard task before them.

A preliminary contest between the second teams of Neenah and Appleton will start the ball rolling at 7:30 P. M. Friday evening. Little is known of the Neenah seconds but Guy Barlow has developed a strong aggregation at Appleton high although he started with material which was mostly new.

The intense rivalry between Neenah and Appleton in all branches of sport promises to create a noisy "G" capacity when the high school teams clash.

DREXLER DEFEATS NEENAH CUE STAR

At Drexler of Appleton Monday night defeated S. Dunker, Neenah, 100 to 91, in one of the closest matches played thus far in the Fox River Valley championship pocket billiards tournament in progress at the Carr, Hansen and Pindle parlors here.

The game was close from start to finish and its result was uncertain until the last ball was sunk.

Both men played a safe game being careful to avoid open breaks. The parlors were crowded to capacity with interested spectators.

On Thursday night the most important game of the tourney is expected, when H. Hoeppele and E. McCoy cross cues. Both players have unblemished records thus far and one of them is hoped to win the championship of the valley and a chance at the state title.

MONROE OUTPOINTS SANGOR IN FAST GO

Milwaukee—Frankie Monroe of Los Angeles outpointed Joey Sangor in a ten-round bout here Monday night in the opinion of the majority of news-papersmen. Sangor, a right-handed, curly-haired 125½ and Monroe weighed 125 pounds.

The fight was clean and fast with Monroe landing the harder punches and boxing more effectively.

In the semifinals Connie Curry of Sioux City outpointed Eddie Moore of Los Angeles in a ten round affair. Curry scored a knockdown in the opening round and continued to pile up points throughout the bout.

Wallie Pierce Rolls 299 In Menasha Tilt

Menasha—Wallie Pierce Saturday broke all bowling records here when he wended through the strikes for a 299 score, missing perfection by a single pin. Pierce was the outstanding leader in the weekly sweepstakes tournament here and gave the fans a rare treat. He crashed eleven strikes into the pit and hit No. 12 made a nine count.

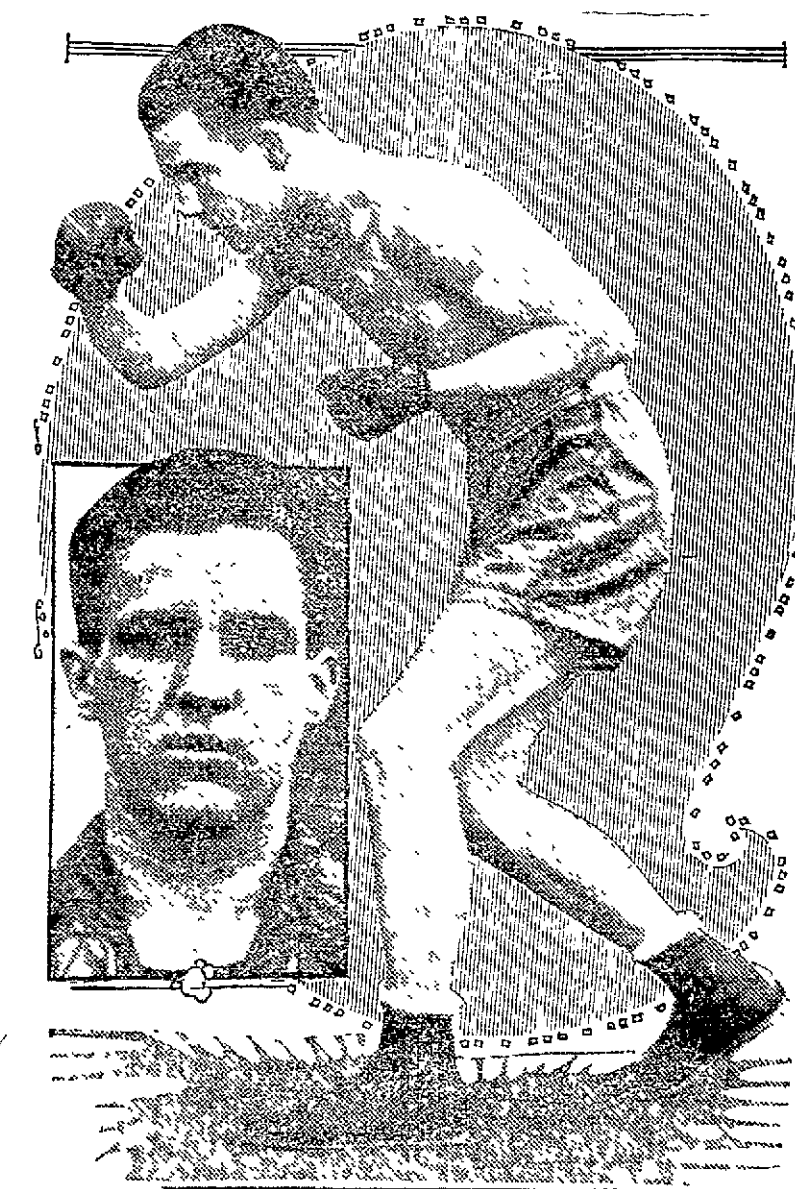

The sweepstakes winners were: Wallie Pierce, $50, $100; Malouf, $67, $100; W. Pierce, $45, $100; Tyson, $43, $75; W. Pierce, $45, $50.44. Squad winners were Hyson, Osterling, Kobs, Malouf and W. Pierce (3).

Reino, Nev.—Walter Johnson will pitch again for Washington and has given up hope of securing a Pacific Coast league baseball club, he announced.

Knockout Defeat by Jack Zivic Is First Time Southpaw Ever Has Been Stopped

JACK ZIVIC

The new year wasn't long in furnishing a fisty surprise. The form unset has to do with Jack Zivic of Pittsburgh, who knocked out Lew Tendler in their recent bout. In stopping the veteran south paw, Zivic turned a trick that was too big a task for even the great Benny Leonard. A dislocated shoulder has been a handicap to Zivic's ring work. Several bouts have been suddenly stopped when Zivic threw out the shoulder, rendering him practically helpless. Zivic weighed 141 for Tendler and probably has outgrown the lightweight limit.

REDS PLAN TO GO SOUTH WITHOUT FURTHER CHANGE

Cincinnati, O.—The Cincinnati Reds will go to the Orlando training camp two weeks from next Saturday with the club's present roster intact, there being no further deals, trades or purchases in prospect. This announcement was made by President August Herrmann Monday night on his return from the league schedule meeting at New York.

Mr. Herrmann expects all to be on hand to go south with the team.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa.—K. O. Phil Kaplan of Brooklyn knocked out Vic Hirsch of Chicago in the ninth of a ten round bout.

Seranton, Pa.—Jack Zivic, Pittsburgh, scored a technical knockout over Bobby Tracy, Buffalo, in the sixth of a ten round bout.

LAWRENCE MAT AND RING CANDIDATES GET ACTION

Five wrestling matches and one boxing bout Saturday afternoon featured Lawrence intramural sport program with the following results:

In the 115 pound class Lee took two straight falls from Ziegler. Froese, at 135 pounds took two straight from Hawkes. Anderson won from Nuss when they took two draws and Anderson got the final decision in the 145 pound class. In the 165-pound division Schroeder threw Martiny for two straight falls. Nobles, at 165, took one decision and one fall from Sablin.

Tubbs won three of his four rounds from Anserge in the 155 pound boxing division.

HILLS AND VOLKOFF WILL GRAPPLE TWO GOOD MEN TUESDAY

Attendance at Last Program Encourages Johnston to Stage New One

Encouraged by the attendance of his last wrestling card, Elmer Johnston is planning another for Tuesday, Feb. 17. Although the roads and streets were covered with ice on the day when George Hills met Hassan Volkoff here, the card drew a very fair crowd, indicating that wrestling has returned to favor. Reports that one of Volkoff's ribs were broken in his match with Hills were slightly exaggerated, an X-ray examination showed the rib was strained badly which caused a painful swelling, but late reports were to the effect that the Bulgarian champ and recovered. Johnston will put on a double windup in his next card, with Hills and Volkoff pitted against two good men in the feature bouts. Volkoff probably will grapple Young Roman off of Gary, Ind. Contacts have been forwarded to both and their signatures are expected Tuesday. Both Volkoff and Romanoff have scored falls on Hills here, and they look like an even match.

Hills' opponent has not yet been chosen definitely. Johnston has wired several of the leading wrestlers of the country and expects a number of replies within the next few days.

This will be the first time in many years that a double windup will be staged on a wrestling card here. The price of admission will not be raised despite the expense of putting on four headliners, as Johnston expects the size of the crowd to offset the costs.

Both matches will be run according to Police Gazette rules which call for two out of three falls to finish with in a two-hour limit. There will be but one preliminary.

ATHLETICS BATTLE PLYMOUTH QUINTET

Kimberly Mill Team Will Seek to Even Score With Former Victors

Special to Post-Crescent
Kimberly — Plymouth, classed as the strongest professional basketball team in the state, and one of the few able to boast a victory over the Athletics, is due to meet them in a return game in the clubhouse here on Wednesday. The Plymouth cagers defeated Kimberly, 37 to 28, several weeks ago on a Plymouth court, and the Athletics are looking for revenge.

An opening game between the Kimberly Independents and the Fox River Paper Co. of Appleton is expected to be worthy of the main attraction. The Fox Rivermen now lead the Appleton Y. M. C. A. Industrial loop by a comfortable margin. The Independents expect to win, but are looking for the toughest contest of the season.

Toronto, Ont.—Jackie Johnston, Toronto bantamweight, and Vic Bailey, Vancouver, Canadian bantamweight champion, drew ten rounds.

MENASHA READY TO QUIT STATE LEAGUE

Twin City Stockholders Favor Playing Independent Baseball

Menasha—Menasha club of the Wisconsin State Baseball league will relinquish its franchise in the circuit and play independent ball the coming season if the opinion expressed by approximately 25 Menasha and Neenah fans at the annual meeting of stockholders proves general among fans of the two cities. During the discussion of policy for the coming season, opinion was unanimous that the Paul city club quit the league and play independently the coming season. Harry Gossett, E. F. Dorbrook and Paul Strange were appointed as a committee to investigate the matter and to make a report at the next meeting of the stockholders and fans, to be held Sunday afternoon, Feb. 15.
